As an accounting technician, I operate as a bookkeeping and payroll service provider. I was dealing every day with different elements of tax – employer taxes, income tax, VAT and corporation tax – but I wanted a better practical understanding and a working knowledge of tax legislation to apply to my personal business and my clients’ businesses.

I would absolutely without hesitation recommend the TMITI qualification to anybody that deals with any aspect of tax in their everyday life.

“For the majority of clients I am the main point of contact for Revenue so I will usually have to deal with queries on all the tax headings that my client is registered for. The advantage of having done the TMITI course is that I can competently and confidently liaise with Revenue and any issue can generally be resolved within a working day.”
